The New Macmillan Publications

A NEW NOVEL OF
THE SOCIAL LIFE
OF WASHINGTON

Foxcroft Davis's Mrs. Darrell

Second Edition. Cloth, $1.50

"It seems to me to be a man's knowledge and experience and a man's method of narration, but it is a woman's love-story," writes one reader of the book to its publishers.

A NOVEL OF SOCIAL LIFE IN LONDON

Miss Robins's A Dark Lantern

By the author of "The Open Question," "The Magnetic North," etc. Cloth, $1.50

"This is a very notable book; it is the best that Miss Robins has produced, which implies that it reaches the highest level of modern fiction. For many years there has been no more sympathetically, yet relentlessly drawn character in fiction than that of Katharine."

—The Daily Mail, London.

A SIGNIFICANT NOVEL OF AMERICAN LIFE

John Heigh's The House of Cards

By a Sometime Major of U. S. V. Cloth, $1.50

The New York Evening Post calls it: "uncommonly interesting and human . . . the most successful of the recent attempts to put on paper the personality of the modern business buccaneer. It is rich in literary allusions bearing the hall-mark of experience, keen observation, and wide learning."

READY NEXT WEEK

Jack London's The Game

This is a crisp, direct story full of that characteristic appeal to the primitive passions which marks "The Sea-Wolf," "The Call of the Wild," etc. Cloth, $1.50

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S

New Romantic Novelette Entitled

THE BEAUTIFUL LADY

Now Ready

THEY say that the lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

But every rule has its exception as is proved in the present instance, for there is no doubt that in The Beautiful Lady, Mr. Tarkington's latest work, the lightning of genius has struck precisely where it struck in his famous earlier work, Monsieur Beaucaire. There are few authors in the whole range of literature who have achieved two such perfect masterpieces, identical in spirit and fraught with the same exquisite grace and charm.

The only difference between The Beautiful Lady and Beaucaire is that the former passes in our own day amid the most romantic surroundings of modern Europe. The story itself is one of absorbing interest. The beautiful lady is one of the most fascinating heroines in modern fiction.

The publishers in making the book itself have tried to improve upon the attractiveness of Beaucaire even. It is peculiarly appropriate as a gift book.

In The Beautiful Lady there are seven illustrations by Blendon Campbell and the book is decorated throughout by William Jordan. . . . $1.25.

NOTES IN SEASON.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co., Philadelphia, publish to-day "The Girl and the Deal," a charming love story by Karl Edwin Harriman, with illustrations by W. H. D. Koerner.

W. B. CONKEY COMPANY, Hammond, Ind., call attention elsewhere to their various lines of popular twelvemos. They have made up eleven new series comprising nearly 2000 titles and thirty-one different popular five-volume sets. The books are all well printed and are artistically bound.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish shortly William Dean Howells's new novel, a story of a summer episode among the New England hills. The novel will bear the title "Miss Bellard's Inspiration," and possesses a thoroughly up-to-date and original heroine, who contrives to give an original turn to the love-story. The situation gives Mr. Howells a splendid opportunity to display much keen discrimination and humor.

THE EVERETT PRESS COMPANY, Boston, announce that the prices of Judge Henry A. Shute's two popular vacation books, "The Real Diary of a Real Boy" and "Sequel," have been reduced to 50 cents each. Both books are printed on good paper and attractively bound in cloth, and will no doubt have a large sale at the lower price.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published "Young Japan," by Dr. James A. B. Scherer, the author of "Japan To-Day," and "Four Princes," in which he traces the rise of Japan to a power of the first magnitude. The book is profusely illustrated with reproductions from rare photographs and pictures by native artists. They have also just ready v. I., II., and III. of the "History of the Conquest of Peru," and v. I. of the "History of the Reign of Ferdinand and Isabella," in the Montezuma edition of the works of William H. Prescott, edited by Wilfred H. Munro; a "Graded Speller," by Alice Rose Power, of the Edson School, San Francisco, Cal., which is intended to supply the needs of the different grades; and an entirely new edition of "Cooke's Hand Book of Obstetrical Nursing," with considerable new material, and a very thorough revision of all material that appeared in the earlier edition of this well-known work.

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY has just brought out the first volume of the new series of the "American Catalog," covering the period from January 1, 1900, to January 1, 1905. The volume, a compact octavo of 1300 pages, is the final cumulation of the titles given in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY system of record by author, title, subject and series entries, fully revised and amended to include every title of which information could be obtained, covering approximately 42,000 books and 100,000 entries. In addition to the record of books is given a Directory of Publishers whose books are recorded in the volume, including 3876 names with street addresses. It is proposed, if enough subscriptions are received, to publish in a second volume the full titles and notices of the "Weekly Record" material for the five years in five separate alphabets, each year being complete in itself. As the increase in size of the first volume has considerably increased its cost of manufacture, it is probable that the price may shortly be advanced from $6 to $7.50.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger†. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Brudno, Ezra S. The little conscript: a tale of the reign of Nicholas I. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1905. [Je.] c. 43+325 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of the reign of Nicholas I., Emperor of Russia from 1825 to 1855. A Jewish boy of fifteen, a precocious student of the Talmud, is drafted for the army. Because he will not forswear his religion he is cruelly persecuted. Later he takes interest in military life and does much for his fellow soldiers. The conditions of the Jews in Russia are described with the same startling realism shown in the author's former story, "The Fugitive."

Camden, J: The hundredth acre. Bost., Herbert B. Turner & Co., 1905. [My.] c. 5-321 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A rich and eccentric American, able to live like a prince anywhere, had settled down in Paris. His lawyer is summoned to make changes in his will. That night the old man is found murdered. A detective story follows, showing French methods, and after endless theories a man claiming "the hundredth acre" of a Connecticut farm offers to shed light if he may have this piece of the murdered man's property, about which there has always been litigation.

Carman, Albert R. The ethics of imperialism: an enquiry whether Christian ethics and imperialism are antagonistic. Bost., Herbert B. Turner & Co., 1905. c. 4-177 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

Contents: The paradox; Is there an explanation? Spencer on egoism and altruism; The true distinction; The fighting unit; The folly of altruism; Egoism and Christian ethics; The individual and the fighting unit; The nation the fighting unit; Imperialism; The citizen and imperialism; The social reformer and imperialism; Imperialism and ultimate peace; The patriotic instinct; Individual liberty.

Chambers, Rob. W: Iole. N. Y., Appleton, 1905. [My26.] c. 13+142 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

Iole was one of eight daughters of a devotee of "l'art nouveau" in painting, poetry, book-binding, music, etc. They were all named for butterflies. They joked in Greek and Latin; knew all the "ologies" and lived a happy outdoor life clothed in pajamas and bloomers. Poverty drove the poet to a New York rural spot where two of his girls were loved at first sight. The rich young men brought the whole family to New York City and three more girls found husbands at once. The travesty on the visionary poets and artists of the day with whom the vocabulary makes up for thought and work is delightfully humorous.

Davis, Foxcroft. Mrs. Darrell; with il. by W: Sherman Potts. N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. [My.] c. 3+391 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Two young English soldiers, on leave in Washington, meet the girl who marries one of them and becomes Mrs. Darrell. She goes to India and lives a happy life until the death of her husband just after a great inheritance and return to London. The second soldier is his cousin and heir. He cannot be traced and Mrs. Darrell finds herself alone and penniless. She returns to Washington. A United States Senator determines to make her his wife. The career of the Senator, leading to his expulsion from the Senate, gives a telling description of American political life of the day and of the ruinous extravagance of American millionaires.

Picard, G: H: The bishop's niece. Bost., Herbert B. Turner & Co., 1905. [My.] c. 5-208 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

A half-dozen wholly honest characters are used to show that the great needs of human nature are the same in all. The details of external methods of religious worship are a matter of circumstances and opportunity. Catholicism and Methodism are the powers arraigned against each other in the persons of a bishop, two priests and a Methodist minister. The guiding spirits for peace are a priest's mother, the Methodist's sister who becomes a Catholic and the bishop's niece who becomes a Methodist. Nova Scotia is the scene.

Pollock, Walter Herries and Guy C. Hay fever. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 3+222 p. O. hf. cl., $1.25.

A good-natured burlesque of the Sherlock Holmes stories. A sedate London stock-broker, afflicted with hay fever, takes a friend's remedy and is reduced to a state of mind that makes him act a most remarkable part in a social gathering and in a piece of detective work. Some diamonds and spoons have disappeared and, in tracing the thief, detectives, mummies, bicycles, motor cars and young lovers get into inextricable confusion.

Prelini, C: Earth and rock excavation: a practical treatise; with tables. N. Y., D. Van Nostrand Co., 1905. c. 6+357 p. il. diagrs., O. cl., **$3 net.

The contents of the book, briefly summarized, comprise first a discussion of the graphical representation and calculation of earthwork. This section is followed by chapters describing the construction and operation of the various machines used for excavating and transporting earth and rock. Succeeding chapters consider the various methods of planning and executing works of excavation, and describe methods for deducting the cost of such work in any particular case. A concluding section describes briefly a number of large works of excavation. Designed primarily for the student and young engineer; contains much information that is valuable also to the practising engineer and contractor.

Price, Warren Eldridge. Price's catalogue of paper covered books: being a title-author-subject key to the publishers and retail prices of all paper bound books now in print in America. N. Y., The Publisher and Retailer, [Warren Eldridge Price,] 1905. 8+271 p. thumb index, D. ¾ leath., $5.

"This present volume has been undertaken and published on suggestion of the users of 'Paper-covered books—a catalogue,' done and published by the same hands in San Francisco, in 1894. . . . This catalogue is not made for the use of the man who knows all about books. It is not made on the lines which would have been followed by an expert at catalogue making, working in a library. It has been made for the use of plain you and I, to enable us to locate edition, publisher, and price of any obtainable paper-bound book which a customer might ask for."—Preface.

Sturmsee: man and man, by the author of "Calmire." N. Y., Macmillan, 1905. c. 6+682 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The anonymous author of "Calmire," published in 1892, has now collected his views on the labor question, the woman question, questions of art, literature, education and all questions now before the civilized world. He puts his ideas into the mouths of many of the same characters that in the former book discussed chiefly of religion. He holds that all reform and progress must be the outcome of the evolution of the individual which must be helped along in the directions suggested by the special characteristics with which nature has endowed him. Only a thread of story. The book is sociological.

Tarkington, Newton Booth. The beautiful lady. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1905. c. '04. 6+144 p. il. D. cl., †$1.25.

The style of an Italian writing English lends charm to this story of a young Neapolitan reduced to earn wages by having the advertisement of a low Paris vaudeville painted on his shaved crown. A streak of luck gives this man the supervision of a young American travelling for pleasure. The consequences are humorous and pathetic. The strength and weakness of American idiosyncrasies are cleverly put.

Tenney, Martha Jane. The Tenney family; or, the descendants of Thomas Tenney of Rowley, Massachusetts, 1638-1904; revised with partial records of Prof. Jonathan Tenney. Haverhill, Mass., M. J. Tenney, 1904. c. 691 p. il. pors. D. cl., $5.

Tracy, L.: The great mogul; il. by J. C. Chase. N. Y., E: J. Clode, 1905. c. 3+340 p. D: cl., $1.50.

Begins in Afghanistan, then describes a battle of the Spanish Armada in 1588. These events form the prologue and introduce the men whose descendants are heroes of the story which begins in London in 1608 under King James and then shifts to India under the Great Mogul. The difference of the rule of the dissolute Christian king and of the beneficent heathen ruler is well brought out. Describes the customs and manners of the age on both sides of the world.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

KARSLAKE & Co., 35 Pond Street, Hampstead, London, have just ready the second part of the second volume of their "Book-Auction Records," formerly known as "Sale Records," edited by Frank Karslake. This part covers the period from January 1 to March 31, 1905, and contains 4347 records. Prefacing the records is given a description of the Bodleian copy of the first folio of Shakespeare, with a facsimile reproduction of the book, and bibliographic and other notes, (330 p. 12°, pap., £1 1s. for the complete volume.) Part three of the second volume will be published in August, and part four, with an index, on September 30.

RAOUL RENAULT, Quebec, Canada, will publish at once a new bibliographical manual, entitled, "Inventaire Chronologique des Livres, brochures, journaux et revues publiés dans la langue française en la province de Québec, depuis l'établissement de l'imprimerie, en 1764, jusqu'à l'année 1905," (Chronological Inventory of the Books, Pamphlets, Newspapers, and Magazines published in the French language in the Province of Quebec, since the establishment of printing, in 1764, to 1905). The work has been prepared by Dr. N. E. Dionne, librarian of the Legislative Library of the Province of Quebec, and author of several historical works, and contains references to 3200 books and pamphlets and 800 newspapers and magazines, with notes and summaries of the more important items. It has also a long introduction on the history and development of printing in the Province, from 1764 to date, and some biographical notes on the most popular French-Canadian writers. The book should prove especially interesting to Americans, as it gives a list of all the books published in a border country, and contains some items of special American interest, such as the Canadian writings on the French and Indian wars, American Invasion of 1775, War of 1812, the Fenian Raids, the Boundary Question, Reciprocity, Commercial Union, etc. The edition has been limited to 300 copies at $4 net each.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready the first definitive bibliography of Hawthorne's scattered and multitudinous writings. Miss Nina E. Browne, who is secretary of the American Library Association Publishing Board, has been engaged on it for many years. It contains, along with the entry of Hawthorne's published work, whether in book form or in old magazines or newspapers, everything that can be discovered in print about Hawthorne, in both books and periodicals. Much pains have been given to the arrangement to make it as helpful as possible, both to the literary worker and to the collector. There has even been included a very full double-entry author and magazine index, which it is believed will be of special service to librarians and students. The volume is printed with great care on a beautiful all-rag paper, (especially made for the book,) with leaves entirely uncut, and bound in a smooth, dark English cloth, with paper label. The printing is on one side of the leaves only, the other remaining blank for any additional notes or comments the owner may care to insert. It is a large octavo, uniform in size with the large-paper edition of Hawthorne's Works, published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. in 1900. The edition consists of 550 numbered copies, of which 500 are for sale. The plates will be destroyed on completion and no other edition will be issued. The publishers announce that they plan to follow the publication of this work with the issue of similar exhaustive bibliographies of other great American authors: Lowell, Emerson, Holmes, Whittier, Thoreau and Longfellow. These volumes should be of the greatest value to booklovers and collectors, and to all libraries of importance.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JUNE 3, 1905.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE COPYRIGHT CONFERENCE.

THE initial sessions of the Copyright Conference, which were held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, at the City Club, New York, at the invitation of the Librarian of Congress, were of a preliminary nature, and it is not proposed that a formal report of them shall be made. It is proper to say, however, that a score of organizations were represented—in most cases by leading men in their calling, as is evident from the fact that the delegates present from the author interests included Mr. Edmund C. Stedman, Professor Brander Matthews and Mr. R. U. Johnson; from the publishers, Mr. W. W. Appleton and Mr. Charles Scribner, (Mr. G. H. Putnam being absent abroad;) from the artists, Mr. Lafarge and Mr. Alexander; from the compositors, Mr. Sullivan, of the National Typographical Union—not to attempt a roll of the representatives of other specific interests. As the meeting was held by invitation, it was decided not to attempt organization as a conference, but to consider that the associations represented were present, constructively, in the librarian's office at Washington, in consultation with him; and with Mr. Herbert Putnam in the chair, Mr. Thorvald Solberg, the Register of Copyrights, acting as recorder, and the presence of Mr. Montgomery, of the Treasury Department, as the representative of that interest of the Government, results of surprising unanimity were reached in a minimum of time and without waste of talk.

The trend of the meeting was in favor of avoiding the pitfalls and confusions of the present law by providing for comprehensive statements of general provisions, with definitions which should usefully give exact meanings of the general terms, combined with specific provisions for the different classes of literary and artistic property, as books, dramas, paintings, etc. There was general unanimity in favor of abolishing the renewal term and making a single copyright period, covering at least the life of the author and some years beyond, possibly with shorter terms for special copyrights, as the ephemeral copyright on news matter, and it was the general feeling that copyright protection should be extended to all classes of properties created by intellectual labor and to all methods of reproduction, including, for instance, the mechanical reproductions of music. There was general emphasis on the importance of avoiding the present danger that copyright protection may be forfeited by non-compliance with technicalities, and in favor of simplifying the formalities. It was also felt that the penalties should be reasonably limited, but that wilful and culpable infringement should be severely punished. As to international copyright there was practically no endeavor, beyond academic protest, to disturb the status of the manufacturing clause. The non-importation clause proposed by the authors, in accordance with the amendatory bill introduced at the last session of Congress on behalf of the publishers, was strongly opposed by the representatives of the library and educational associations; but this difference of opinion caused no exception to the general tone of good nature and mutual appreciation which prevailed throughout the conference.

The conference was, in fact, a kind of Quaker meeting, in which suggestions acceptable to those present were accepted by the assent of silence and noted as expressing the general view. In this way very considerable results were quickly reached, and the tact and courtesy of Mr. Putnam, and the alertness and frank responsiveness of Mr. Solberg tended greatly to this end. It was the unanimous feeling that un hoped for progress toward an excellent, if not ideal, copyright code had been made possible, and that the results would probably be quicker and better than if the plan of a conference commission had been adopted. It is the understanding that all the suggestions will be taken into consideration by the Copyright Office in making a tentative draft of a bill which will then be submitted to further sessions of the conference to be held, probably, in Washington in the early autumn.

THE COPYRIGHT CONFERENCE.

THE following is the list of associations participating in the copyright conference, with the names of the delegates so far as appointed. ## RARE ITEMS FROM THE WENDELL LIBRARY BRING GOOD PRICES.

At the sale of the Wendell library, on May 19, the celebrated Augustin Daly copy of Ireland's "History of the New York Stage," continued by J. S. G. Hagan, was sold to George D. Smith for $6664. Mr. Daly had the work enlarged to forty-nine volumes by the addition of over 8000 rare prints, autograph letters, old play bills, and other interesting material. The work was richly bound in red levant morocco, and, it is said, the entire work cost over $30,000. At the Daly library sale in 1900, the volumes brought $6125, being considered cheap at that price. Mr. Wendell has owned the work since that time.

The original manuscript of Charles Dickens's "Sketches of Young Gentlemen," published in 1838 by Chapman & Hall, sold for $5300. This is the record price for a Dickens manuscript in this country, if not in the world. The manuscript contains 109 pages of large quarto paper, inclosed in a morocco box. With the manuscript was a letter from Frederick Chapman of the London publishing firm attesting to the authenticity of the manuscript. George D. Smith also purchased this item.

Still another rare manuscript was the original of Robert Browning's "Dramatis Personæ." It was written in ink, on 205 pages, containing a number of corrections and unpublished readings. Dodd, Mead & Co. got it for $3050. The original autograph manuscript of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Aurora Leigh," written on twelve pages of octavo paper, was purchased by the same firm for $250.

That prices for Washington Irving material are increasing was shown in the payment of $145 for the manuscript of the author's story of "Communi-paw." This was written for Lewis Gaylord Clark, editor of The Knickerbocker Magazine.

A rare Lincoln item, the manuscript of his speech in 1859 concerning the formation of the Republican Party, was bought for $290 by George D. Smith. A document signed by Lincoln while he was President, appointing John E. Brown Vice-Consul of Denmark in 1863, went for $14.

Edgar Allan Poe's manuscript of an unpublished poem, containing nine lines, sold for $110, and an autograph letter from him to his uncle, William Poe, sold for $18. An early letter of Longfellow, written in 1841, and announcing that he was obliged to be paid for what he wrote, went for $20.

An autograph letter of Thomas Gray, the poet, went for $20. An autograph letter of Charles Dickens, inviting Sol. Eytinge, the illustrator, to come out with him to see the darker side of London life, sold for $25, and "The Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club," a presentation copy from Charles Dickens, sold for $130.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS' 50TH ANNIVERSARY.

THE American branch of the firm of Thomas Nelson & Sons to-day enters upon its fifty-first year, having been established in New York City on June 3, 1854, by Thomas Nelson, the second of that name—the younger son of the founder of the business and the father of the present generation. Mr. Nelson came to New York with one of his trusted employees, Mr. James Campbell, a carpenter by profession, who turned bagman for the Nelsons, and afterward held responsible positions in their employ, and opened an office at 131 Nassau Street, next door to the Nassau Bank. Mr. Campbell remained in charge of the American branch for nearly ten years when, with his sons, he established himself in the book business in Canada. His successor was Mr. James Robertson, under whose able management the business soon outgrew its smaller quarters and was removed to 137 Grand Street, and later to the corner of Bleecker and Mulberry Streets. In 1873 Mr. Robertson was succeeded by Mr. Gavin Houston, who, in 1888, removed the business to No. 33 East Seventeenth Street. By this time the American branch of Thomas Nelson & Sons had pushed its way to the very front rank in the publishing trade of this country. In 1893 Mr. Samuel Barling, long connected with the firm as their representative on the road, succeeded Mr. Houston as manager, and in 1898 removed the business to their present quarters at 37-41 East Eighteenth Street, where they now occupy four large floors, including a well-equipped plant for binding their fine Bibles, prayer books, etc.

In February, 1903, the firm absorbed the business of E. & J. B. Young & Co., and became an American corporation, with Mr. Barling as president. On his resignation, about a year ago, Mr. Ian Nelson took charge, and early this year, on Mr. Nelson's return to Edinburgh, the former secretary of the corporation, Mr. William Thomson, was installed as president and manager of the American branch.

For a number of years, up to 1896, Thomas Nelson & Sons were agents in America for the Oxford Bibles. But in that year the arrangement with the Oxford University Press was cancelled by mutual consent, and the firm took up the work of Bible publishing in the United States on their own account. One of their most important undertakings in this direction was the publishing of the American Standard Revised Bible, an edition of the revised version that incorporated the readings and renderings proposed by the American members of the committee that began, in 1871, to revise and correct the version of 1611. This "American Standard Revised Bible" the American branch of Thomas Nelson & Sons have brought out in over 100 different styles, with and without critical apparatus, aids, illustrations and maps, printed on white paper and on Nelson's India paper. Recently they made arrangements with the American Bible Society, which for nearly one hundred years published only the King James version of the Bible, to handle a cheap edition of their American Revised Bible bound only in cloth, specially for church and Sunday-school use. Besides this version they also publish the King James version in over 400 styles.

Their miscellaneous line has always included juvenile literature of a very high grade. The books issued in this department are selected with the utmost care, and the strictest attention is paid to their tone and teaching. Indeed, this class of literature has contributed not a little to the enormous success of the firm.

The beginnings of the firm of Thomas Nelson & Sons were most humble and unpretentious. The founder, Thomas Nelson, (I,) was born on a small farm near Stirling, Scotland. After spending some time in a London publishing house, and being bent upon setting up in business for himself, he went to Edinburgh about 1802 and took a small room which he used for the selling of second-hand books. He thence also issued such books as "Scots Worthies" at cheap rates, in monthly parts. Gradually his business developed so that he was enabled to open a small shop at the corner of the West Bow. While there he made the acquaintance of Peter Brown, a bookseller, and they agreed to bring out various books, sharing the expenses of production. Later he hit upon the notion of selling his books by auction either in Edinburgh or in other Scotch towns. While very profitable, this auction idea embittered the booktrade to such an extent that for years, (in fact, until about 1835, when William Nelson "travelled" for the firm,) the trade would not buy a book published by Thomas Nelson. William Nelson, the elder son of Thomas Nelson, (I,) helped his father's business immensely by his extraordinary business ability, and completely revolutionized its position in the trade. In this he was ably supplemented by his younger brother, Thomas Nelson, (II,) as head of the manufacturing department. The younger brother showed a marked talent for mechanics which, in 1850, he demonstrated by his invention of a rotary press from which all subsequent rotary presses have sprung. In 1844, at the age of twenty-two, Thomas Nelson, (II,) went to London to set up a branch of the Edinburgh business, of which he had charge for eighteen months.

The combined talents of William Nelson, a man of most refined tastes and literary leanings, of his brother, the mechanical genius, and of the father, a mine of information, an inspirer and adviser, proved irresistible. Although an invalid during the last twenty-five years of his life, this father was the ruling influence of the great house until his death in 1861. Never has there been such a happy instance, favored by fortune and heredity, of family organization, that most important and, except by the Jews, little-realized force towards success. Beginning, under the auspices of Thomas Nelson, (I,) and Peter Brown, with cheap editions of the works of popular preachers and theologians, the idea occurred to one of the brothers, probably William Nelson, to bring out a series of volumes of juvenile literature. Then followed gift-books, educational works of the most varied kinds, the renowned "Royal Readers," inaugurated after the passing of the Education Act of 1870, which set the fashion to all the leading English publishing houses; excellent maps and atlases at cheap prices, and on original plans devised by the ingenious Thomas Nelson, (II.) and subsequently universally adopted; a series of school-books written almost entirely by the same extraordinary person; The Children's Paper, which had at once a colossal circulation, and The Family Treasury, edited by Dr. Andrew Cameron, to which such writers contributed as Dr. Guthrie, Dean Trench and Brownlow North, not to extend the list unduly.

William Nelson died in 1887, and was accorded the honor of a public funeral by his native city of Edinburgh. He was an amateur of art and a lover of beauty in all its manifestations. His death, in fact, occurred a few days before he was about to go on a voyage to his beloved, classic Greece.

Thomas Nelson, (II.) died in 1892, after a most strenuous life devoted to the most varied activities, political, philanthropic, and theological—apart from the arduous labors inseparably connected with the conduct of one of the largest publishing businesses in the world. When, in 1878, the premises of the firm were destroyed by fire, he coolly telegraphed for new printing machines, had some rough temporary buildings run up immediately, and business went on as though nothing had happened. In six months enormous new buildings had been erected, and the business was carried on on a far larger scale than before. His partnership with Messrs. Bartholomew & Co., the map-engravers, whom everybody knows, was likewise a wonderful instance of business capacity. Though always intensely interested in public affairs, he rarely took public part in politics, the only occasion on which he appeared on a platform was when he made a speech supporting the cause of the North in the war between the States, 1861-'65.

The Edinburgh business was removed in 1846 from Castle Hill to magnificent premises at Hope Park, which were destroyed by fire as already noted in 1878. The present buildings, the Parkside Works, at the foot of the well-known mountain, Arthur's Seat, are one story high and occupy an area twice as large as the Madison Square Park in New York City. The roofs are all of glass, and in case of fire it could be confined to a small area by means of fire-proof partitions. The Nelson residence is close by the printing house, which employs upwards of 700 persons, and in which every branch of the business is conducted except that of paper making and type-casting. The London house is situated in Paternoster Row, and is principally stock and salesroom for the English bookseller.

Though close upon a hundred years old, the firm of Thomas Nelson & Sons to-day is as alert and progressive as though it were a product of the twentieth century—ever improving upon methods and intent upon extending its influence throughout the English-speaking world—always pioneers and leaders in all that makes for good literature.

ANNIVERSARY OF SILVER, BURDETT & CO.

EDGAR C. SILVER, who, on April 21, 1885, began the business that has developed into the firm of Silver, Burdett & Co., gave an anniversary dinner April 22, at the Park Avenue Hotel, New York, to nearly one hundred of his business associates past and present. Mr. Silver spoke of the hopes and fears of twenty years ago and of certain notable trials that had eventuated in triumphs through the early years of the existence of the firm. Mr. Beattys, who has been with the house longer than any other except Mr. Silver, gave delightful reminiscences. Dr. Chandler, editor-in-chief, spoke of the future of the house.

The chief event of the day was the presentation to Mr. Silver of a beautiful loving cup, with appropriate inscription and the motto, "Haec olim meminisse juvabit."

Those who remember the early days of this house and see its present proportions can hardly realize that so much has been wrought in twenty years.

AN UNKNOWN EDITION OF THEOPHRASTUS.

MR. VOYNICH, the well-known dealer in rare books, has had the good fortune to discover an entirely unknown edition of Theophrastus: "Θεοφράστον Ἠθικοὶ Χαρακτήρες, Theophrasti Notationes Morum," printed in England at the Oxford Press of Joseph Barnes, 1604. The copy is small quarto in size, and extends to ten leaves; the title is within an ornamental border, with printer's device, and with woodcut head and tail pieces; it is interleaved throughout, with numerous contemporary notes on the margins. "The edition," according to W. Roberts in the London Athenæum, "is of importance, as hitherto the first with Greek text only, printed in England, has been considered to be that of 1790. The curious fact about this edition of 1604 is that the most exhaustive attempts have failed to find any previous record of its existence. In 1752 Dr. R. Newton, principal of Hart Hall, Oxford, issued 'Proposals for Printing.....The Characters of Theophrastus....with a translation of the Greek into Latin, according to the specimen annexed,' etc., and neither in this pamphlet, nor in the preface to Newton's 'Characters of Theophrastus, with a strictly literal Translation of the Greek into Latin, and with Notes and Observations on the Text in English,' Oxford, 1754, is there to be found any reference to the 1604 issue, nor is there any mention of it in any of the bibliographies.

"Joseph Barnes, who started the University Press in 1585, and whose first book was the 'Speculum Moraliū Quæstionum' of John Case, continued to print books until 1617, and his name on the imprint of the Theophrastus gives it an interest which it would otherwise probably not possess. The little book is, in fact, an exceedingly hard bibliographical nut to crack. The first problem which suggests itself is, Was this edition ever actually published? The probability is that it was not, and that it was merely privately printed at the expense of some classical student at Oxford. Now in his edition of the work Scaliger states that he had consulted four MSS., of which one was in the Bodleian Library. A natural theory is that Scaliger corresponded with some one at Oxford, and that this correspondent had the Bodleian MS. printed for the express purpose of sending it to him. Further research may bring to light some facts explaining the existence of this edition of 1604; but, in any case, Mr. Voynich may be congratulated on discovering it, for nothing is known concerning it at the Bodleian."

NEW YORK NEWS COMPANY IN NEW QUARTERS.

THE NEW YORK NEWS COMPANY is at last installed in its new quarters at 15 Warren Street, and is now in shape to do, with considerably less effort, more than double the work possible in their old building in City Hall Place. Their new building is five stories high and has a large basement. The first floor is occupied by the city department, the offices and stationery sample rooms are on the second floor, the stationery stock is on the third floor, the order and receiving departments are on the fourth floor, and the mail, express and periodical departments occupy the top floor. The basement will be used for storage of stock. The entire floor space is about seven thousand square feet.

The New York News Company was started by David P. Rhoades in 1867 at 33 Ann Street. Associated with Mr. Rhoades, the first president, were William B. Bancker, who was general manager and who later became general superintendent of the American News Company, and Samuel S. Blood, who was treasurer, and who is now manager of the International News Company.

In 1875 Mr. Bancker was succeeded by Mr. Rhoades's son, John W. Rhoades, who in turn was succeeded by his son, J. Howard Rhoades, the grandson of the founder of the company.

In 1868 the company removed to 8 Spruce Street, in 1872 to 18 Beekman Street, in 1884 to 20 Beekman Street and in 1894 to 26 City Hall Place, from which location it has just removed to its new address at 15 Warren Street. Up to 1878 its business was that of a dealer in newspapers, periodicals and novelties. In 1872, when the company was located at 18 Beekman Street, a line of stationery was first added. The stationery department then occupied hardly as much space as is now required by the manager's and bookkeeper's office. The stationery venture, however, was a success from the very start and the department has expanded constantly.

THE BOOKLOVERS MAGAZINE PURCHASED BY D. APPLETON & CO.

D. APPLETON & Co. on May 20 made arrangements to take over The Booklovers Magazine, hitherto published by the company of which Seymour Easton was the manager. The new owners are not yet prepared to make definite announcement of their plans for the magazine's future, excepting that they propose to offer a twenty-five cent magazine which in general features will be similar to the best magazines in the field. It will contain serials by well-known novelists, and special articles on topics of interest, and each issue will contain from 125 to 160 pages of reading matter. Robert W. Chambers will contribute the first instalment of a new novel entitled "The Reckoning" to the July issue, the first to be brought out by the Appletons under the title of Appleton's Booklovers Magazine. The first portion of the recollections of Dr. Thomas W. Evans, the American dentist who settled in Paris and became the friend of Napoleon III. and aided the escape of the Empress Eugénie, will also be one of the attractions in this number. Other notable contributions will be an extract from the Journals of Benjamin Henry Latrobe, under whose management the Capitol at Washington was erected; an account of the Museum of War and Peace at Luzerne; an article on foreign trade by Harold Bolce; an article on the great English homes of American titled women by Miss Elliston; and an illustrated article on John Paul Jones.

No editor has as yet been selected, and for a month or so, until a suitable person has been found for the position, the editorial work will be done by editors and readers attached to the firm.

OBITUARY NOTES.

CHARLES HENRY WEBB, who was better known to American readers under his pseudonym, "John Paul," died May 24, after a brief illness, at his home, 328 West Fifty-seventh Street, New York City. Mr. Webb was born at Rouse's Point, N. Y., on January 24, 1834. As a boy he went to sea. Upon returning to this country he engaged in newspaper work in New York City and in California, where in 1864 he founded The Californian, to which Mark Twain and Bret Harte were frequent contributors. Mr. Webb edited and published the first book by Mark Twain, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County, and Other Sketches." As a writer he is best known for his happy parodies. One of his first works, "Liffith Lank or Lunacy," was a parody on Charles Reade's "Griffith Gaunt." In 1868 he wrote "St. Twel'mo, or the Cuneiform Cyclopedist of Chattanooga," a travesty on Miss Evans's "St. Elmo." Some of his other works were "The Wickedest Woman in New York," 1869; "John Paul's Book," 1874; "My Vacation," 1875; "Parodies, Prose, and Verse," 1876; "Vagrom Verse," 1889, and "Along Varying Shores," 1901. He wrote several plays and made many contributions, principally of verses, to magazines. He also invented an adding machine, a cartridge loader, and several other contrivances of that kind.

HENRY JOHN EPPING, commercial traveller for Thomas Nelson & Sons, died at Marshalltown, Iowa, May 21, aged forty-five. "John" Epping, as he was familiarly called, was born in Germany, July 15, 1860, and was educated in New York City. When he left school he entered the employ of Pott, Young & Co. as office boy. He was a bright lad and in a short time earned promotion through the several departments of the concern. His ambition to become a salesman was gratified some time during the early eighties when he was sent on the road. He was a success from the start, and when the necessities of the business required Fred E. Hafely to give up travelling, Epping was promoted to the position of senior salesman, and was entrusted with the important territory of the large cities and jobbing centres of the West, and continued in his position after the firm of E. & J. B. Young & Co. was absorbed by Thomas Nelson & Sons. Mr. Epping possessed a disposition that especially fitted him for road work; he was always frank, cheerful and contented, made friends easily and kept them. He was well liked by the trade and popular with the travelling men who a few years ago elected him president of the Brotherhood of Commercial Travellers. He was loyal to his employers, and was never known to do an unkind or mean act. His friend, J. B. Simmons, a well-known bookseller of Marshalltown, was with him at the end and brought his remains to New York.

JUDGE ALBION WINEGAR TOURGÉE, American Consul to Bordeaux, France, died on May 21 from acute uræmia, which resulted from an old wound. Judge Tourgée, probably best known as the author of "A Fool's Errand," a novel of the reconstruction period in the South, was born at Williamsfield, O., May 2, 1838. He studied at the Rochester (N. Y.) University, from which he was graduated in 1862, when he entered the Federal army. He was twice wounded, and for six months confined a prisoner of war in Libby prison. After the war he settled as a lawyer, farmer and editor at Greensborough, N. C. He opposed the plan of reconstruction that was adopted, favoring instead the establishment of territorial governments in the seceding States. He was an active member of the North Carolina Constitutional Conventions of 1868 and 1875, and was a member of the commission appointed to codify and revise the State laws. In 1868 he was elected Judge of the Superior Court for the Seventh Judicial District of North Carolina, and held that office till 1874. His district included the counties in which the Ku Klux Klan was most powerful, and several attempts were made to capture him. In 1881 Judge Tourgée moved to Philadelphia, where he established a literary weekly, The Continent. In 1897 he was appointed Consul at Bordeaux, and returned to that post after being for a time Consul General at Halifax, N. S. Among his literary works, besides "A Fool's Errand," are "Bricks Without Straw," "Hot Plowshares," "An Appeal to Cæsar," "Figs and Thistles," "Black Ice," "Murvale Eastman" and "Button's Inn."

MRS. MARY ASHTON LIVERMORE, writer and reformer, died at Melrose, Mass., on May 23. Mrs. Livermore was born in Boston, December 19, 1820, her father being Timothy Rice. When eighteen she took a place as governess in a family in Virginia and spent two years in the South, returning North a confirmed Abolitionist. She taught at Duxbury until 1845, when she married the Rev. Daniel P. Livermore, a Universalist clergyman. For the next ten years she was active in personal work for the Abolitionists. She established and edited a newspaper called The Lily. In 1857 Mr. Livermore became the editor and publisher and Mrs. Livermore the associate editor of The New Covenant, a Universalist paper. During the war between the States Mrs. Livermore was the leader in the work of the United States Sanitary Commission. At the close of the war she became a lecturer, her services being in constant demand by lyceums, so that on an average she covered 25,000 miles annually for many years. Her most popular lectures were "What Shall We Do with Our Daughters?" "What Shall We Do with Our Sons?" "What Shall We Do with Our Superfluous Women?" "Women of the War," and "Moral Heroism of the Temperance Reform." She founded and conducted The Agitator, a woman suffrage newspaper, and in 1870 was made editor of The Woman's Journal of Boston. Among her published works are "The Children's Army," "Thirty Years Too Late," "Pen Pictures," "What Shall We Do with Our Daughters," "My Story of the War," "A Mental Transformation;" also, in connection with the late Frances E. Willard, "American Women." Mrs. Livermore retired from the lecture platform in 1895, although she had since spoken and lectured frequently in and near Boston. She was an active member of thirty-seven clubs and an honorary member of several others.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

J. W. CROSS, George Eliot's husband and biographer, is bringing out a book entitled "The Rake's Progress in Finance."

A LIFE of Benjamin Harrison is in course of preparation by J. L. Griffiths, the Indianapolis lawyer, who is now American Consul in Liverpool. He expects to finish the book within a year.

DR. WILLIAM OSLER, before sailing for England, left with his publishers, Houghton, Mifflin & Co., a volume of essays entitled "The Fixed Period," which will be published early in the fall.

HENRY JAMES has prepared a volume of sketches entitled "English Hours," which will be published this fall by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. The volume will be illustrated by Joseph Pennell.

MADAME ZOLA has presented to the city of Paris, for a convalescent home, the house at Médan, where a great part of her husband's work was done. Zola bought it in 1877 for $1800, but he spent over $50,000 upon it.

THE Boston Authors' Club, on May 24, entertained Mrs. Julia Ward Howe at the Hotel Somerset, on the occasion of her eighty-sixth birthday. The occasion was signalized by the composition by each member of the Authors' Club of a four-line verse dealing with Mrs. Howe's birthday.

BLISS CARMAN, who is at present on a visit to the California coast, is at work on a new volume of verse to be entitled "From the Book of Valentines," which is to form the fifth volume of his Pipes of Pan series. He is also preparing a new volume of prose essays to be entitled "The Poetry of Life." Both books will be published by L. C. Page & Co.

F. MARION CRAWFORD has just completed a new story entitled "Soprano: a portrait." The heroine is the daughter of an English scholar and an American mother. The story opens in Paris, where the girl is cultivating her voice in order to support herself by singing. "Soprano" will be known by the title "Margaret" in Munsey's Magazine, where it begins as a serial in the June number.

ROWLAND THOMAS, winner of the $5000 first prize, in Collier's Short Story Contest, will inaugurate a notable series of articles in the July World's Work under the general title of "The Railroads and the Square Deal." Mr. Thomas, who is conducting a series of first-hand investigations, will tell the true story of our railroads—how they have built up great business enterprises—the struggle of railroads against railroads, the devious way of rebates and special concessions.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE, the publisher, contributes an interesting and profusely illustrated article on "The Etiquette of Correspondence Paper" to the June number of Good Housekeeping.

FRANCIS W. HALSEY, for many years literary editor of the New York Times and more recently literary adviser of D. Appleton & Co., lately succeeded Edward J. Wheeler as editor of The Literary Digest.

The Cosmopolitan, recently purchased by William R. Hearst, has been removed from Irvington, N. Y., to the American Building, at Broadway and Fifty-Ninth Street, New York City. "John Brisben Walker," according to the Fourth Estate, "will continue to edit the magazine for some time, though Bailey Millard, who is announced as his successor, is actively at work in the new office. Mr. Walker will still publish the Twentieth Century Home at Irvington. It is understood that he will also embark in the book publishing business, in the large building which he erected for the Cosmopolitan."

THE Burlington Magazine for May contains an interesting article on "The Pre-Raphaelite and Impressionist Heresies," by Bernhard Sickert, who contributed the much-talked-of Whistler article that appeared in the March number, which concerns itself with a contrast of the most significant art movement in England, Pre-Raphaelism, and the most significant movement in France, Impressionism. Mr. Sickert again points out that the term Pre-Raphaelite did not, at the inception of the movement in art for which it stands, or at the period of its greatest worth and vigor, involve the study or the influence of the actual painters before Raphael, of whom indeed the English painters knew almost nothing, but rather evolved from what was then conceived as predominant in these precursors—the earnest study of nature, intensity of feeling and contempt of formulæ. An exquisite photogravure of "The Lady with the Bird Cage," by Walter Howell Deverell, from the collection of Lady Burne-Jones, forms the frontispiece of this number and illustrates Mr. Sickert's article. J. Starkie Gardner concludes his article on old English silver of the Charles II. period, illustrated with six plates; and M. L. Solon contributes a valuable chapter to the history of porcelain in his article on "The Rouen Porcelain." Besides these there are articles on "The Failure of Our Water-Color Tradition," with illustrations; "Life of a Dutch Artist in the xviii Century," by Dr. W. Martin; "The Father of Perugian Painting," by Edward Hutton; editorials and the usual departments of notes, bibliography, etc. Dr. George Frederick Kunz, the celebrated gem expert and authority on gem minerals, has become one of the Editorial Consultative Committee of The Burlington Magazine. Dr. Charles Eliot Norton and Professor Allan Marquand are the other American members.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

L. WEIL, for some time connected with the American News Company, has joined the staff of the A. Wessels Company.

A. WESSELS COMPANY have just brought out a work entitled "The Camera in the Field," a timely book for the large circle of workers entering upon that most fascinating branch of photography.

THE VIR PUBLISHING COMPANY, Philadelphia, is about to issue a pamphlet entitled "The Bloom of Girlhood," by Pauline Page, designed for mothers to place in the hands of their daughters at the period when entering upon womanhood.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD have just brought out a new story by "Pansy," (Mrs. G. R. Alden,) who has upwards of sixty volumes to her credit. The new book is entitled "David Ransom's Watch," and teaches the lesson of self-sacrifice in a helpful and charming manner.

THE many friends of Reginald Brett, Barrister Detective, the creation of Louis Tracy in "The Albert Gate Mystery," and also in "The Stowmarket Mystery," will be interested to learn that he also figures in "The Strange Disappearance of Lady Delia," which will be published shortly.

THE REILLY & BRITTON Co., Chicago, have just brought out a clever laundry list, entitled "Washee, Washee: laundry lists for a year, with wise saws and modern instances." The list is shaped to resemble the figure of a full-sized Chinaman holding a fan, attached to which is a Chinese "cash" suspended to a string. The conceit was designed and compiled by W. M. Rhoads.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has become the publisher of the Miniature Library of Devotion, which is being issued to supply popular demand for classics in small form. "Selections from Bishop Taylor," "St. Augustine" and "St. Chrysostom" are the three volumes of the series now ready. Mr. Whittaker will publish shortly "The Life and Letters of the late Rev. Dr. Alfred Momerie," edited by his wife.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once their twelfth volume devoted to Schiller, namely, the third book (in the German text) of his history of the "Thirty Years' War," abridged and edited by Professor Arthur H. Palmer of Yale, who has already successfully done a similar service for the same publishers in a volume of selections from the Thirty Years' War, portraying the careers of Gustavus Adolphus and Wallenstein.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce that the second set of five volumes in the important series of The American Nation will not be published all at one time, as were the first five. Instead, the volumes will appear at the rate of one a month during the coming summer. The next in the series, vol. VI., will probably be issued this month. It is written by Professor Evarts B. Greene, of the Illinois State University, and bears the title of "Provincial America."

KING EDWARD, during his recent visit to Paris, was pleased to accept a copy of "Paris in Pen and Picture," written by John N. Raphael, and published by Brentano's of Paris. The work contains over forty full-page photographic reproductions of "La Ville Lumière," and the same number of original sketches of typical Parisian characters. President Loubet has also accepted a copy of this work, which is claimed to be unique of its kind.

DEWITT & SNELLING, of San Francisco, Cal., have purchased what is known as the Lees Library. This collection of books was started about thirty years ago by Isaiah W. Lees, ex-Chief of Police of San Francisco, who made a specialty of books on California, Americana in general and criminology. Mr. Lees gathered in all the works in these lines that came in his way, and at the time of his death he had over 6000 volumes, all of which have passed into the hands of DeWitt & Snelling.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY will publish in July "The Silly Syclopedia," which is announced as "a terrible thing in the form of a Literary Torpedo." It will have nearly 100 illustrations. They also announce Cyrus Townsend Brady's "Three Daughters of the Confederacy," with illustrations by J. N. Marchand; Marietta Holley's "Around the World with Josiah Allen's Wife;" "Real Boys," by Judge Henry A. Shute; "The Abandoned Farm," by Mary J. Holmes; and Gustave Verbeek's "Up Side Downs of Little Lady Lovekins and Old Man Muffaroo."

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish this month Theodore Roberts's new romance, "Brothers of Peril," which deals with life in the ancient colony of Newfoundland. The work will have drawings by H. C. Edwards, reproduced in color, and will be published simultaneously by the Copp, Clark Company in Canada and by Eveleigh Nash in London. They will also publish this month Ridgwell Cullum's new story, "In the Brooding Wild," and a new edition of "John Whopper," a charming juvenile by the Rev. Dr. Thomas H. Clark, late Bishop of Rhode Island, with a preface by Bishop Potter, of New York, a book that was originally published anonymously.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just published a new novel by Frederick Upham Adams, entitled "John Henry Smith." It is a golf novel written, so the publishers declare, with the whimsical humor that characterized "The Kidnapped Millionaires." The action of the story takes place in the open, and a love story develops on the links. Millionaires, philosophical farmers, a remarkable "hired man" and pretty girls figure in the story. An incidental feature is a duel between a Panhard motor car and a bull. The book is illustrated by A. B. Frost, who has done a remarkable group of pictures in that he carried out successfully the somewhat unique idea of making the pictures appear as if drawn by the narrator of the story.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready "The Travellers' Handbook for Transatlantic Tourists," by Josephine Tozier, author of "Among English Inns." The book is prepared on new lines for travellers intending to visit Europe for the first time. It is not intended to take the place of such "guide books," as Baedeker's, etc., but has been compiled with the object of collecting, in one compact and convenient volume, enough hints and suggestions to assist travellers contemplating a journey abroad to make the necessary preliminaries for accomplishing the crossing of the Atlantic comfortably, and understanding the conditions of transportation and other items directly concerned with travelling on the other side of the ocean.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just issued a biography of John Knox, by the Rev. Dr. Henry Cowan, which is timely, in view of the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of the famous Scotch reformer; a new volume of verse by Dr. William Henry Drummond, entitled "The Voyageur;" also, another volume of the uniform edition of the essays of Sir Leslie Stephen, entitled "Free Thinking and Free Speaking." They will publish shortly "Under the Guiding Stars," by Agnes Blake Poor, author of "Boston Neighbors," a story of New England life; a volume of the "Addresses of Frederic R. Coudert," with a biographical introduction by Paul Fuller; also, a volume entitled "Bushido, the Soul of Japan," by Dr. Inazo Nitobe, with an introduction by Dr. William Elliot Griffis.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish at once a new novel by S. R. Crockett, entitled "May Margaret." They have in preparation a "Beverly Calendar," with illustrations in color by Harrison Fisher, mounted on heavy cardboard and boxed; also, a calendar with quotations from the works of Hamilton W. Mabie, and illustrations from nature colored by hand. Among the fall importations of this firm will be a volume on the "Cathedrals of England," with full text and sixty full-page illustrations in colors, reproducing the great cathedrals. The process by which the illustrations are made is very superior to that in ordinary use. In these days of foreign travel, and especially in our study of England, this volume ought to be of much interest and value to Americans.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. have just brought out Felix Adler's new volume, "The Religion of Duty." This latest book by the founder and leader of the Ethical Culture Society gives to the ideals and principles of the ethical culture movement the most complete and rounded expression they have yet had. The book is composed of selections from the written and spoken addresses of Professor Adler, the excerpts having been edited by Leslie W. Sprague, who has grouped them under the following headings: "First Steps Toward Religion," "Changes in the Conception of God," "The Teachings of Jesus in the Modern World," "The Religion of Duty," "Standards of Conduct Based on Ethical Religion," "The Ethical Attitude Towards Pleasure," "The Ethical Attitude Towards Suffering," "The Consolation of the Religion of Duty," "The Essential Difference Between Ethical Societies and the Churches."

WORD comes from Munich, Bavaria, that all the big expert lawyers of that city and of Berlin are busily discussing the question of lèse majesté in connection with the proposed publication of the German translation of Gertrude Atherton's "Rulers of Kings," which was issued in this country by the Harpers. Among the excisions demanded by the Censor is the speech made at the Budapest dinner, which was given verbatim in the novel. It seems that although Austria can do nothing now, after the old Emperor dies they can sue for defaming a dead man, even if the book has been published years before. Then the Kaiser must not be mentioned as "William," but always referred to as "he!" But the sentence to which most exception is taken is: "The Emperor turned gray and let his temper fly." The Kaiser, they say, is never in a temper. He has no common or mortal passions. All this controversy is leading to large sales of the English edition.

THE story of the first white man to cross this continent, told by himself, is to appear shortly in a new translation of "The Journey of Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca from Florida to the Pacific, 1528-1536." The translation made by Mrs. Fanny Bandelier after a careful collation of the earliest original Spanish edition is edited and introduced by the distinguished archæologist, Ad. F. Bandelier, and is to appear in the successful Trail Makers library under the consulting editorship of Professor J. B. McMaster, published by A. S. Barnes & Co. The volume will also contain the report of Father Marcos of Nizza, the first explorer of New Mexico, whose journey came between Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado, and there will be a map indicating the probable routes of both of these Spanish pioneers. With the addition of these narratives in a definitive edition to the narratives of Coronado and De Soto, recently published, the Trail Makers library will offer the original histories of the greatest Spanish explorations within the United States.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just brought out "A Mother of Czars," by Mrs. Colquhoun Grant, a sketch of the life of Marie Feodorowna, wife of Paul I., and mother of Alexander I. and Nicholas I. The purpose of the author is to present the pleasing rather than the dark side of Russian affairs, and to portray the home life at the Court of St. Petersburg under the wholesome rule of a wise and virtuous woman. Within the next few weeks they will issue a volume entitled "The Book of the Spiritual Life," which consists of unpublished writings by the late Lady Dilke, prefaced by a short memoir from her husband's pen. The essays which give the title to the book are followed by two short stories. The work is illustrated by portraits of Lady Dilke and facsimiles of her sketches. They have also nearly ready "A Life of Schubert," the originator of modern song, giving particular attention to the circumstances under which the more famous songs were written. E. Duncan is the author. It is the tenth issue in the Master Musician Series.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY publish this week "Southern Writers: selections in prose and verse," by Professor W. P. Trent; "Seat Work and Industrial Occupations," by Miss Mary L. Gilman and Miss Elizabeth B. Williams; "The West Indies," painted by A. S. Forrest, described by John Henderson, and "Ireland," painted by Francis S. Walker, described by Frank Mathew, each containing seventy or more illustrations in colors; volumes III. and IV. of the new edition of "Purchas His Pilgrimes;" and the paper-bound edition of Dr. John W. Streeter's well-known book, "The Fat of the Land, the Story of an American Farm." They will bring out shortly an interesting volume of reminiscences of G. F. Watts, by Mrs. Russell Barrington, a life-long friend of the famous English artist, with five full-page plates in color and twenty-seven other illustrations from hitherto unpublished drawings; "At the Sign of the Fox," a new story by "Barbara," the author of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife;" also, a new, revised and enlarged edition of one of Dr. Richard T. Ely's best-known books, "The Labor Movement in America." They have also just ready "A Dark Lantern," a new story by Elizabeth Robins; "The House of Cards," by Major John Heigh; a new edition of Ely's "Labor Movement in America;" "International Civil and Commercial Law," translated by Arthur K. Kuhn, of the New York Bar, from the French of Professor Meili; "A History of the Pacific Northwest," by Joseph Schafer, Ph.D.; a new edition of Gooch and Walker's "Inorganic Chemistry;" "The Boston Colloquium: Lectures on Mathematics," under the editorship of Professor Thomas S. Fiske; "Nature Study for Primary Grades," by Dr. Charles A. McMurry, and the paper edition of Caroline Brown's novel, "On the We—a Trail." Jack London's new story, "The Game," will not be published until the 7th inst., the very large advance demand having interfered with its publication on May 31. They will publish shortly a work on "The Foundations of Sociology," by Professor Edward A. Ross, of the University of Nebraska, in which the author aims to set forth not what has been or is or ought to be in society, but what tends to be. In the author's view sociology is now living the battle years that biology experienced half a century ago. He attempts to lay down the foundation for a social science that shall withstand the severest logical tests, and formulates the principal truths about society that so far appear to be established. They will publish in June "The Little Hills," by Nancy Huston Banks. The title refers to the little hills of daily life which we all find hard to climb. In this story the hills are not higher than usual, but they are many and steep—the highest that come within the range of the simple lives described. They have in preparation a new story by Mr. Hewlett, the title of which will be announced later.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Mr. John E. Scopes, dealer in rare books and prints, has opened up a new department in his business, and will now execute auction bids for booksellers, librarians and collectors wishing to purchase books at Albany sales.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—The book and stationery stock recently purchased by Seeber & Kenyon, of Mary E. Purple, has been removed to their place of business, on Greene Street.

FARMERSVILLE, TEX.—Williams & Bunkey, booksellers, have been succeeded by P. C. Williams.

FRANCIS, I. T.—R. F. Blankenship has opened a new stock of stationery, drugs, etc.

KIOWA, KAN.—George C. Smith has purchased the book business of Arthur Spaulding.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—J. T. L. Macdonald has removed the printing and publishing plant of the Caxton Press from Milwaukee to this city, where he has located at 1023 East Forty-Ninth Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—The City Bookstore has been incorporated this week, and a general book business will be conducted at No. 128 West 23d Street. The incorporators are W. R. Reed, M. E. Gates, Jr., and M. L. Bishop, all of this city.

NEW YORK CITY.—Albert W. Lovering, who for sixty-five years has been connected with the book trade, has recently retired and sold his stock, at No. 128 West 23d Street, to the City Bookstore. The business of the new company will be continued at the old address, and the proprietors will develop and increase the "Lovering's Olde Book Shoppe" business and carry a complete line of recent new books. M. L. Bishop, manager of the Library Book Concern, 156 Fifth Avenue, is largely interested in this new enterprise.

OKMULGEE, I. T.—Moore Bros., booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

PITTSSTON, MASS.—Henry Vermilye, bookseller, has been succeeded by Frank H. Adelman.

SEATTLE, WASH.—The student's bookstore, hitherto conducted under the management of the Associated Students of the Washington University, will hereafter be conducted on a different and purely co-operative plan. Every person who enters the university next fall, whether he becomes a member of the A. S. U. W. or not, may become a member of the co-operative bookstore by paying into the treasury a dollar. At the end of the school year each person may draw out the $1 paid in and his proportionate share of the net profits. All books are to be sold at list prices to all students alike. The bookstore last year did $8000 worth of business, and netted a profit of $700, supplying books to the students at a discount averaging 15 per cent.

TACOMA, WASH.—W. E. Theodore, bookseller, has been succeeded by the Theodore Bookstore Company.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amounts should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplaced, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word (Cash).

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Calendar Pads

THERE'S a finish and a certain style to the pads which we issue this year that appeals strongly to the trade everywhere. In our "Holly" and "Mistletoe" designs the covers are embossed, and the effect is charming. The binding—another feature—is strong and artistic. If you haven't seen this line send in your order.

A Cynic's Meditations

WALTER PULITZER'S bright little book of cynical epigrams is still selling fast. A good book to take the dull edge off a tired brain—

"Generally speaking, a woman is — generally speaking."

Show this book on your counters and you'll make many a friend.

(Boards, 75 cents; leather, $1.00)

Don't Fret

HERE'S a new book by the author of the "Don't Worry Nuggets." An ideal little volume to place in the hands of any one who admires beautiful, helpful thoughts.

(Cloth, 50 cents; leather, 75 cents)

Friendship's Fragrant Fancies

THIS is the title of a new volume of poems by CATHERINE MORIARTY. "The poems show a mastery"—says the Indianapolis Star—"of the art of verse writing, and breathe throughout the free spirit of the West."

(Cloth, $1.25)

A Guest Book

EACH page of this charming autograph book is arranged with spaces for signatures of guests, their addresses and remarks. At the head of each page, printed in green, red and black, are appropriate quotations on Friendship. The book is designed by the well-known artist-printer, Ralph Fletcher Seymour.

(Cloth, $1.50; buckram, $2.00; leatherette, $2.50; morocco, $3.50)

Mother Stork's Baby Book

MORE folks are using this beautiful baby book this year than ever before. Must be a powerful lot of babies in the land this Spring! Do you know a baby who hasn't got one?

LIPPINCOTT'S NEW BOOKS

Young Japan

By JAMES A. B. SCHERER, LL.D.

Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, gilt top, rough edges, $1.50, net. Postage, 11 cents extra.

The story of the rise of Japan to a power of the first magnitude. Dr. Scherer, who will be remembered among a large number of readers by his former volume, "Japan To-Day," in "Young Japan" offers a compact and thoroughly readable history of the Japanese people, their institutions and their life. He follows the steady development of the Japanese as a nation, not by detailed statements regarding her succeeding rulers and their reigns, but by an admirable account of just what has been responsible for each step in the country's development, and what it has meant or means to the native literature, arts, or sciences, all of which he illuminates with many anecdotes. The volume is profusely illustrated with reproductions from rare photographs and pictures by native artists and is a trustworthy and informing hand-book upon a very timely subject.

Diplomatic Mysteries

By VANCE THOMPSON

Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50, net. Postage, 12 cents extra.

One of the most graphic and intensely interesting of contributions to diplomatic history, and has besides all the charm and dramatic quality of a good novel. He tells, among other things, how the plot was hatched that ended the life of President Faure of France; how the Sultan of Turkey has spread a net of secret agents over Europe, who keep him informed in advance of every move by every government; the true story of the romance of Crown Prince Rudolph; of the fierce fight between France and the Vatican; gives a vivid picture of "the only free man in Russia"—Tolstoi; relates how the present war between Russia and Japan came about.

At Odds with the Regent

By BURTON E. STEVENSON

In Lippincott's Series of Select Novels

Paper, 50 cents.

THIRD EDITION

The Ravanel

By HARRIS DICKSON

Four illustrations by SEYMOUR M. STONE. $1.50

"Honoring Nelson Page as we do, we yet believe that Harris Dickson's book has struck the truer note for the reconstruction era, and we are confident that the nation would be the better if every voter could read the Ravanel before the campaign of '08 by way of preparation for a real community of interests and hopes, and the South will be well served by those agencies friendly to her who will help the dissemination of the book and the message it carries."
—"An Epic of Reconstruction," editorial in Florida Times-Union.
